Lisa Kastaniotis, More Strategic

Lisa has focused her career working within and in service to the for-purpose sector. She spent 14-years' leading integrated fundraising campaigns for one of Australia's largest and most respected charities. She has been responsible for the deployment of several strategically significant projects, particularly in the area of cultural and operational transformation. She enjoys building successful teams and combining data driven insights with a deep empathy for how donors feel, to craft strategies that deliver sustainable success.
