

Meet the facilitator

James Stinson

James Stinson is Head of Enablement at Raisely and Director of UXGood, bringing a unique blend of strategy, creativity, and digital expertise. With extensive experience in nonprofit technology, he has worked closely with more than 300 charities worldwide to transform their fundraising through innovative campaigns and scalable digital solutions. James is passionate about empowering teams to lead with confidence, apply best practice, and deliver fundraising that makes a real impact.